Sales and Business Development Intern:

Give2Gain is an online platform that connects with Athletes and Sports to raise significant funds and awareness for our non-profit partners. Give2Gain works with athletes and sporting events to create once-in-a-lifetime experiences that we strategically market to the public through our platform.

We are looking for a business development intern who is interested in working with a startup to help form partnerships with athletes, work with non-profits, and develop ways to fundraise for our campaigns. An ideal candidate would have a strong affinity for creating new business as well as selling/promoting our current experiences. This position could also have you working with different aspects of the business if there is a mutual interest/fit.

- Assist our business development efforts by putting together proposals as well as developing strategies to secure partnerships and lock in campaigns.
- Has interest and knowledge of the sports, entertainment, and the non-profit world.
- Monitor news and developments relating to, or impacting, key partners/prospects.
- Help develop and execute fundraising strategies for our current campaigns.
