Sales and Business Development Intern:

Solarte Collections, LLC, is a manufacturer of elegantly formulated skin care products made in France, with a philanthropic mission to give back to safe houses for families recovering from domestic violence.

We are looking for a business development intern who is interested in working with a startup to help form partnerships with luxury hotels, spas, and high-end boutiques. An ideal candidate would have a strong affinity for creating new business as well as selling/promoting luxury products. This position could also have you working with different aspects of the business if there is a mutual interest/fit.

- Assist our business proposals as well as developing strategies to secure retail partnerships and lock in campaigns.
- Has interest and knowledge of the beauty industry, social media, beauty and fashion influencers and the non-profit world.
- Identifying key partners/prospects.
- Help develop and execute fun
